

STOP THE EDMONTON INCINERATOR NOW

Concerned about air quality?

Did you know there are plans to build one of Europe's largest incinerators in your neighbourhood?

Incinerators burn waste and turn it into toxic air and ash, worsening air quality and contributing to climate change. The current Edmonton incinerator is coming to the end of its life. Would you rather it be replaced with another expensive incinerator which would be with us for generations to come, or would you rather that money be invested in recycling?

URGENT PUBLIC MEETINGS - ALL WELCOME

Household waste has to go somewhere, but is incineration really the best option? Current research suggests incineration adversely affects air quality, especially impacting children. Do you really want a new incinerator on your doorstep? Tragically plans for a new Edmonton incinerator are moving forward and an urgent campaign is being launched to persuade the North London Waste Authority to abandon the rebuild and go for a greener option instead. Your support is needed!

Please come to the following public meetings to find out more, ask questions, and hear from experts and residents about what actions we can take:
